Our Dearest MommyLein and Beloved Omaly, you broke our hearts by leaving us, but now you see your husband, your children and we will patiently wait until we reunite with all of you in Heaven. Until then, our hearts always beat, filled with the greatest love for all of you.

Death leaves a heartache no one can heal, love leaves a memory no one can steal.

mama i wantet andy and peter my sweet brothers to be whis you i know you love that and papa is in here to now i feel a bit better i only wish i could let everyone be whis you but i dont have enough room iam sorry i love you all so much please dont forget us we love you all

*Perhaps they are not stars in the sky,
but rather openings
where our loved ones
shine down to let us know they are happy*

---

If tears could build a stairway, and memories a lane, I'd walk right up to heaven and bring you home again.

Two roses are positioned in the upper right quadrant of the image. The rose on the left is smaller and more tightly closed, while the one on the right is larger and more open, showing its petals. They are set against a mottled, olive-green background that has a soft, painterly texture. The lighting is diffused, creating a gentle glow around the flowers.

Condolences

from the deepest of our hearts...

to all who may see this little place of heaven for a most beloved mom she had given so much to her familie that after each sorrow she moved closer to our lord but mom did not want to leave us yet she missed all our other loved ones so one final time she said good by in 19 99 my heart broke and yet i am happy that mom has found her peace in heaven beside all she loved so much when people say we lost our loved ones we really did not because they are always there if you look up you see them in a bright and brilliant star in the all will be in our hearts my mom loved the summer season so much that i made her picture that where she sits in a lot of flowers and i know that mom likes it a lot

Manuela Smith

gertraut schulz

Mama was and is my biggest hero. No matter what life put on her, she was the best and caring mama in the world. She was always making everyone happy. When we lost our brother, her life would not ever be the same; it left her numb the rest of her life. This was her 3rd child and he was only 22. Then my dad passed. Then my aunt, her son, and we thought she is not going to survive this all but she did because she loved us so much. As the years passed, as hard as things were, Mama always kept her chin up and her spirits high. She told me once, "Ela, when you go to America, it is the only thing I have not seen." It scared me and I told my husband who was in the army, "Still I do not want to go." I never gave him a reason, but soon we did, and my beloved mama came to see me. I did not know then this was the last time. When we took her to the airport, she turned, and noticed my tears. She smiled at me and said, "I love you, don't cry." but she did not say "I'll be back soon." I would never hear this again. Also, I am glad she can be with our family in Heaven. I can never stop crying anymore. My older brother followed her six month later. I can't grieve. I can't smile as much anymore, so when I put on this website, i was hoping it would help, but i only realized that's all i have left of my mama. The only reason i do not wish her back is because i don't want her to go thru all this pain ever again. i know i am selfish because i cant let go, i want to but you passed so suddenly and i could not say goodbye. i wanted to be with you, but nothing is as bright anymore in my life. you always made me laugh when i did something stupid, and when i got homesick, you always said, "dont be sad i am right here. you r still my baby." now i am an orphan i am no ones child anymore. ohh mama i miss you i miss everyone so much but you r my life-line, but that said you deserve your rest and i hold you in my heart very tight. you loving daughter, manuela

Two roses are positioned in the upper right quadrant of the image. They are rendered in a soft, painterly style with muted, earthy tones. The rose on the right is more open, showing its petals, while the one on the left is a tighter bud. The background is a textured, mottled brown and beige, giving the overall image a vintage, artistic feel.
